ON YOUR PEOPLE

"gener8tor decided to switch to FullStack because we felt like our old PEO just treated us like a number. Working with FullStack has been the complete opposite and an incredible experience. I can call them whenever I need, and I trust their guidance and advice even through the most difficult of HR situations."

Why FullStack?

When you are scaling a company, you need a scalable HR solution. A scalable HR solution can be defined as cost effective, time efficient, technology based, and human centered. This solution also removes the compliance headaches from your to-do list - the complex tasks that occupy your headspace, keep you up at night, and distract you from what makes your company money - sales, product market fit, and service. It gives the talent you bring onto your team a great employee experience from onboarding to offboarding.

Do your company and your employees a favor by hiring FullStack as this solution. We bring a combined 50+ years of HR and leadership experience to the table with companies in all stages of the business life cycle.

“ FullStack has a wealth of experience and data that they're more than willing to use when helping us think through the packages we offer our employees. They've been a huge part of us creating a great workplace with very competitive compensation and benefits packages. As startup founders, payroll and benefits are not items that we knew a ton about, nor was it something we really wanted to focus on. Being able to hand that off has been huge for our productivity. ”
